

Diogo was a grant holder in a project to develop a website for pedagogical initiatives, the Active Learning Platform. His professionalism was evident from the first moment and throughout the development process, resulting in an intuitive, practical, and engaging pedagogical platform.

The careful way he managed the requirements gathering process, asking all the necessary questions to fully understand the requests helped the whole team of Professors systematize ideas and strategies. He always carefully shared his concerns and excellent suggestions when he felt that something could be improved, which significantly enhanced the final product.

His autonomy, initiative, professionalism and communication skills made the interactions pleasant, effective and promoted a fluid process.

As a personal note, I would add that Diogo's sense of humour was the cherry on top of the cake 😊 I look forward to work with Diogo again, and I am sure he will be a valuable member of any team he is part of in the future
